

Docklands Business Club and East London Chamber Awards 2007

The cream of Docklands and East London businesses gathered last week to celebrate this year's top performers at a glittering ceremony.

Janette Withey, founder and Managing Director of Quay People, was delighted to receive the award for Business Person of the Year, which was designed to celebrate the ability of an individual to motivate and display entrepreneurial acumen, dynamism, enterprise and charisma. Entries were also required to demonstrate a great business track record, how they had overcome hurdles along the way, and to provide examples of innovation, creativity, inventiveness, vision, perseverance and their support to others in business.

Janette, who has been in the recruitment industry for nearly three decades, was supported by clients, business associates and her former employer for her friendly, flexible approach and her ability to pro-actively deliver successfully for clients and candidates alike.
